Defendant Vanishes, Bribery Claimed in 'Bizarre Trial'

By Jon Thompson

A witness said he was offered drugs and money to lie during the preliminary hearing.

The defendant disappeared, yet the trial continued without him.

The witness admitted lying but was granted immunity from perjury charges.

All in all it amounted to one of the most bizarre trials ever held in Crawford County, according to county Prosecuting Attorney John Huss.

In the end, the jury convicted Gerald Jacklyn, 37, of Grayling, of receiving and concealing stolen property.

The jury trial began Thursday, Oct. 22, in 46th Circuit Court in the Crawford County courthouse involving a receiving and concealing stolen property charge against Jacklyn. A three-wheel all-terrain vehicle was stolen in March, 1985, from Oscoda County. The vehicle was found along a road in December, 1985, and police traced it to Jacklyn.

On Friday, Oct. 23, the trial began taking strange twists. A witness for the prosecution said he had lied during the preliminary hearing because he had been offered drugs and money from Jacklyn. The witness agreed to testify and set the record straight if he could receive immunity from perjury charges.

While immunity documents were being drawn up Friday, the defendant, Jacklyn, disappeared. His defense counsel moved for a continuance of the trial or an adjournment until his client could be found.

Circuit Court Judge Alton Davis, citing numerous precedents, denied the motion and ruled the trial could continue without the defendant present.

The trial continued and on Tuesday, Oct. 27, the jury found Jacklyn guilty of receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100. Prosecuting Attorney Huss also issued warrants against Jacklyn for jumping bond and obstruction of justice, based on the testimony of the witness that he was offered drugs and money by Jacklyn to lie.

Judge Davis cancelled Jacklyn's bond and ordered a bench warrant for his arrest.

County Footing Costs For Lawbreakers From State Prison System

By Don Geiss

When an inmate of a state prison commits a crime within that prison or walks away, he is lodged in the county jail and the county receives no allowance for that person.

Crawford County Sheriff Harold Hatfield told county commissioners last week that there has been as many as six inmates housed here recently awaiting trial on the new change. He noted that presently there are four prisoners.

Further investigation by the Avalanche revealed that one prisoner had been housed here for 154 days and another who is still in the jail has been here for 43 days. In the last six months, the six individuals have a total of 288 days' accumulated time. Using a figure of $34 per day as an average of surrounding county charges, the state has avoided reimbursing the county a total of $9,792.

Hatfield told commissioners that it is not fair to make Crawford County pay for crimes committed by people who are brought to this area by the state. He pointed out that if they had simply been individuals who had come to the county and committed a crime, they would be arraigned and put out on bond. He noted that this cannot be done with people who are already in jail.

Hatfield also told the commissioners that the department is currently surveying surrounding counties to average the per day boarding fee for inmates. He noted that Crawford County charges $25 per day but that his department boards female prisoners in Otsego County where they charge $35 per day. He said that he believes that other surrounding counties charge more than Crawford County does and he expects to propose an increase to the commissioners when the comparative figures have been compiled.

The sheriff also noted that another expense that cannot be controlled in housing inmates is the medical costs. He gave an example of a 75 year old man presently housed in the jail and sentenced for one year who has diabetes with medical treatment necessary. He noted that one of the state prisoners also needed medical treatment for which the county was billed.

Hatfield also commented about a problem with a deputy that has joined the National Guard but has never had any military training. He pointed out that a person in that position must take basic training for four and one half months and that creates a major problem in his department.

When a deputy is in the guard and must take two weeks off for annual training and one weekend a month there is no problem, Hatfield noted. In a large county it probably would not be as much of a problem, he commented but in a small county it is very difficult to lose a man for almost five months. It is also difficult to find a temporary replacement, he said.

Hatfield is consulting with attorneys about the law regarding guard enlistment to determine if this type of situation can be avoided. He told commissioners that if it cannot be avoided it will make things very difficult but that his department will just have to "live with it".

Hatfield also received authorization from the commissioners to replace a front door of a home which was broken when a deputy had to gain quick access to aid someone who needed emergency care. He noted that the deputy could look in the window and see the person on the floor and that often time seconds make the difference between life and death.

Ambulance personnel arriving a few minutes later entered the house through an attached garage door that was not locked thus, he said, the house could have been entered without breaking the door down. He said, however, that in a life and death situation the deputy does not want to take the time to run around and check all of the doors and windows for access. Never-the-less, he said, since there was an open entry point the county must legally pay for the door at a cost of $172. The commission agreed.

Frederic Twp. Passes Resolution Asking For Restricted Military Use

The Frederic Township Board passed a resolution October 13 requesting the military use of public lands in the township be restricted to Michigan troops. The resolution passed by a 5-0 vote.

The resolution also "strongly requests that expansion of Camp Grayling to accommodate the interests of non-Michigan military units be stopped immediately."

The resolution says the increased use of Frederic Township's public lands by out-of-state military units is degrading the environment, natural resources, and quality of life of the township's private landowners, visitors, and residents. The resolution further states the economic base for the township comes from tourism and recreational use of the public lands, and that the state owns a majority of the land in the township.

The AuSable-Manistee Action Council (AMAC) has taken a similar resolution to the Lovells Township Board. The Lovells Board has scheduled an open meeting with AMAC, military, and DNR representatives for 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 7, at the Lovells Township Hall.

1st Draft of County Zoning Plan Released

By Don Geiss

The first draft of a Crawford County Zoning Plan has been released and a tentative timetable calls for revisions to be made in January.

According to Art Rosenau, county Planning Commission chairman, Robert Hotaling, a planning consultant with Michigan State University, has designed the plan based on those he has written for counties with similar geographic and population makeup. In addition, he said, Hotaling has incorporated in the plan the unique features and needs of Crawford County.

A series of meetings was completed last week in which Hotaling received comments and suggestions about the plan. He will return in January after local officials and civic leaders as well as citizens have had a chance to study the draft plan.

Rosenau said that copies of the draft plan will be provided to each township supervisor and county commissioners as well as libraries and the county clerk's office. He said citizens may wish to study the copies that are available in those locations or that copies can be purchased for $15.

Invitations will be sent out for the January meetings with Hotaling to the same groups who were invited to the meetings last week. They included township officials, property owners association officers, sportsmen's associations, realtors, builders and county officials.

18-Year-Old Sent To Jail After Pleading Guilty To Selling LSD at School

Vance Jacklyn, 18, of Grayling, plead guilty last week to a charge of selling LSD at Grayling High School on March 6, 1987. Circuit Court Judge Alton Davis immediately revoked Jacklyn's bond after the guilty plea and remanded him to the Crawford County jail to await sentencing. Jacklyn faces a maximum of one year in the county jail. Judge Davis told the courtroom he was sending a message to the community that the sale of drugs on the school yards would not be tolerated anywhere in this circuit.

Jacklyn was 17 and a student at GHS on March 6 when he was observed by a school employee making an apparent drug sale. He was expelled from school later in March but never returned as a student after the March 6 arrest.

Pole Building Ruined By Fire

A pole building owned by Dennis Dempsy off North Down River Road a half mile east of Stephan Bridge Road was destroyed by fire Thursday, Oct. 29. The fire was reported at 3:29 p.m. by neighbors who saw the building in flames. No one was home at the Dempsy residence and the house was not damaged. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined by the Grayling Fire Dept. and the Crawford County Sheriff Dept.

Vice President Visits Grayling

Vice President George Bush will speak at the National Guard Armory at 1 p.m. Thursday, November 5.

According to Art Thayer, Crawford County Chairman of the Bush for President campaign, the session will be by invitation only because precinct delegates of the Republican party will be attending from all of northern Michigan. He said that the invited delegates and elected officials will include those who come from the 36th State Senate District and the Northern Lower Peninsula portion of the 37th Senate District.

At press time it was expected that Bush would arrive at the Grayling Airport just prior to his speaking engagement. Thayer said that if it is determined the airport runway is too short for his aircraft to land, he may land at Oscoda and transfer to a helicopter to reach the armory.

$39,828 Fund Balance Tops County Business

By Don Geiss

The projections of spending for Crawford County government during the remainder of this year indicate that there will be a fund balance of $39,828 on January 1, 1988.

County Treasurer Joe Wakeley said that the fund balance as of January 1, 1987, was not as large as expected because there were some unpaid expenses and accrued wages that had not been deducted. He told county commissioners at their meeting last week that most county departments are staying within the budget limits.

On another matter, Tony Doremire told commissioners that a letter of complaint had been sent to Mercy Hospital because they are not informing ambulance personnel in a timely manner when they have transported an infectious patient. As an example, he told commissioners about a patient that was transported who was found to have had infectious hepatitis. It was many weeks before the ambulance service was told of the illness. The excuse for the delay was that the hospital attendants did not know who had transported the patient.

Doremire also explained that a significant repair bill was incurred for the ambulance because of a blown exhaust system, split tire and lack of some emission control parts. The emission control matter was discovered when the ambulance was taken to a service facility because of a general recall. Commissioner Jeannette Kitchen reported on her recent trip to Europe with a team whose trip was funded by two foundations. The study jaunt inspected various composting and recycling plants. (See related article.)

The commissioners were asked to advance Hanson Hills some operating money until the millage money is received in January. They agreed to advance up to $10,000 in increments of $5,000.

Kitchen observed that the term of Natural Resources Commissioner Marlene Fluharty expires this year and that the governor should be encouraged to rename her to the NRC. The commissioners agreed to send a letter to the governor about encouraging a new term for her.

New Life Community Services asked the commission to appoint one of their members to an advisory role on their board. New Life has recently come into prominence because of grants they have received to educate, counsel and place in jobs local prison inmates. Commissioner Bill Ruddy volunteered to meet with the New Life board and be the governmental representative.

It was announced that Commissioner Garland (Bud) Joyce was appointed by the Michigan Association of Counties president to a position on its Labor and Manpower Committee.

In other action the commissioners renewed the term of Merry Meredith to the Library Board and appointed Alan Hoffman to a term on the Zoning Commission.

Soil Conservation Service, Camp Grayling Begin Range Land Reclamation

By Don Geiss

The Michigan State Department of Military Affairs and the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture are about to undertake a massive soil survey and reclamation project on property used by the National Guard in this area.

According to Camp Grayling Commander Col. Richard Schmidt, a recent meeting between military and soil conservation representatives laid plans for the survey and maps to be made of the soil types on the approximately 146,000 acres that the guard uses for training.

Lt. Col. Lee Lawson, camp engineer, said that the effort will not stop at simply mapping but will also put into effect land reclamation projects. The maps will be used to determine the best type of vegetation to plant in each specific area. He said that the military envisions a plan where certain scarred land would be closed for use until it is once again covered with vegetation.

Lawson commented that land would be rotated so that periodically different segments would be reseeded or planted. He emphasized though that the guard has been doing a good deal of reclamation and erosion control work all along. He pointed to the many places at the camp where structures have been built to hold water that normally has swept down the hillsides and caused erosion.

Lawson also discussed the efforts to re-grow vegetation along roadsides and in spots where ditches have been eroded. He talked about a concrete device that has recently been put to use which breaks up water flow and has space for grass seeds to grow between grooves in the structure.

Jackue Korn of the SCS said that the type of cover depends on the type of soil. She noted that in order to stop erosion it may also be necessary to recommend some type of structure. She commented that the Military Affairs Department will fund the mapping project while SCS people will do the surveying.

Schmidt said, "Hopefully we can develop a plan so that training can be rotated to allow an area to reclaim itself." He said, "It is expected that the final result will be a land use program where areas are left better than when we began using them."

Korn said that Martin Kroell of the Grayling office of SCS will be the soil mapping party leader. Those attending the planning session were Schmidt, Lawson, Korn, Kroell, Greg Huntington, the military State Environmental specialist, Neil Stroesenreuther, state soil scientist, Lauren Berndt, assistant state soil scientist, Dan Sikarskie, project coordinator for the Huron Pines Soil and Water Conservation District and Harold Mertes of the Crawford County Soil and Water Conservation District.

European Trip Gleans Ideas For Recycling And Waste Disposal

By Don Geiss

Europeans take the matter of composting and recycling for granted and so they do not quibble about the cost of proper facilities to take care of solid waste.

That comment was made by Crawford County Commissioner Jeannette Kitchen after her return from a whirlwind tour of facilities in Belgium, Germany, France and Switzerland. She toured with a group of Michigan residents who have a special expertise or interest in the area of waste disposal.

Kitchen told of visiting a plant in Germany where everything including glass, metal, plastic and garbage is ground up to provide fertilizer for vineyards. She commented that the Michigan group feared that the technique would cause ground water contamination.

A plant in Switzerland called Orfa had much to offer the visitors, Kitchen observed, because it used a variety of reclamation methods to manufacture products. She said that they made organic fibre materials used for gardens, construction, incinerating plants and the chemical industry. They processed plastic for that industry, inorganic materials for the road construction trade and sorted metals for the metal industry.

Although there were many techniques that the committee considered unsanitary or unacceptable to local people, Kitchen said that she believed many of the ideas gained from the trip can well be used to ease the burden on Michigan's sanitary landfills. In one location, the equipment was excellent, Kitchen said, but safety equipment was lacking. They were not equipped with hard hats or safety glasses, she observed and some were handling waste that might contain glass but wore no gloves.

On the other hand, Kitchen said, ideas provided through composting methods will certainly be incorporated in plans for Michigan's waste handling.

The trip was paid through two foundation grants, Kitchen emphasized and not from any local, state or federal budgets. She was invited to go on the trip because of her long tenure on committees concerned with solid waste management. She has been a member of the Clean Michigan Fund Committee since it was first named by Governor Blanchard.

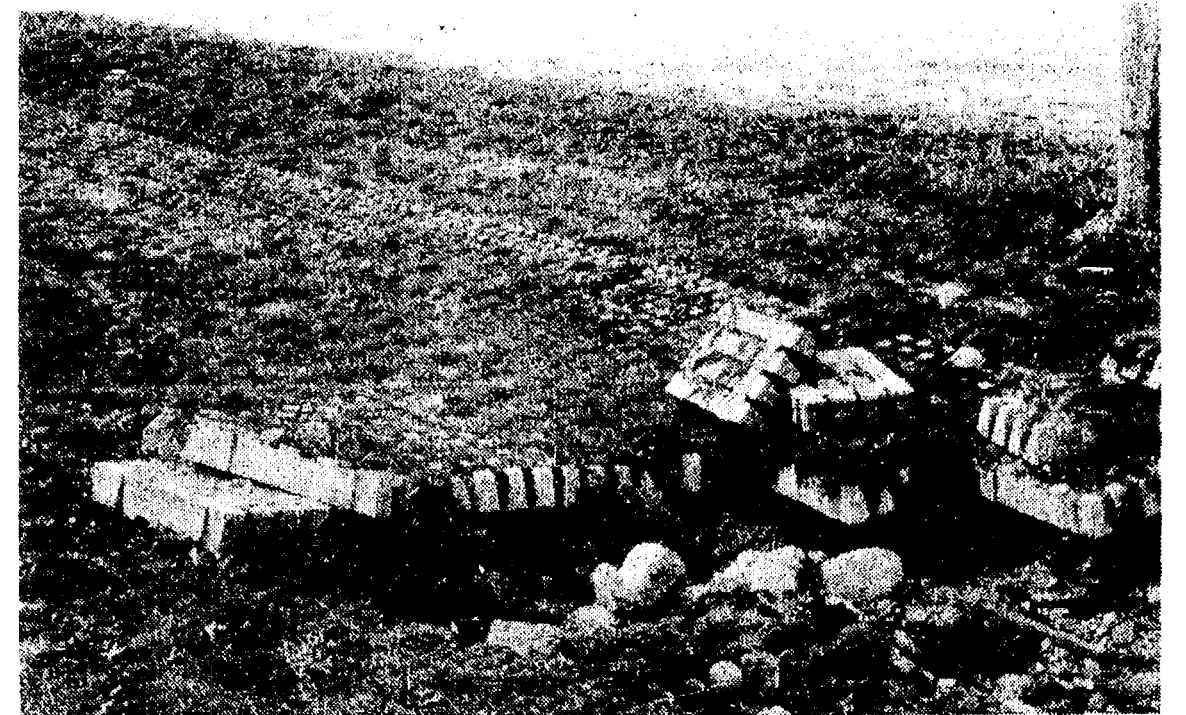

The committee will be called together again in the near future to analyze all of the techniques viewed on the trip, Kitchen noted. The more favorable ones will be incorporated into a report to the governor written by the Department of Natural Resources representatives on the tour.

Kitchen said that in addition, she believes her particular role will also be to transfer the information she has obtained to other members of the Clean Michigan Fund Committee. It will assist them in determining which projects proposed by local communities for waste handling should be funded, she believes.

Kitchen said, "We in the U.S. must face the reality of alternate methods of handling waste instead of landfills." She emphasized

The disease of alcoholism or the abuse of drugs can destroy entire families. Often, being able to discuss the problem leads to treatment and recovery, understanding and support. If a substance abuser is in your life, or if you feel that you have become addicted, HELP IS AVAILABLE.

Bishop Robert Rose feels so strongly about this illness, he has organized what is called the "Bishop's Task Force on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse" and appointed Father Jim Mausolf as Director.

To better reach people in all sectors of the Diocese, an education program was initiated. In Grayling, the learning sessions lasted six weeks and enjoyed excellent attendance. In conclusion, Father Jim appointed the following Grayling committee: Jean Smith, Rt. 2 Box B-185 - 348-5936; Irene Galvani, 107 Vilas - 348-8917; Kathy and Jim Parkinson, Rt. 4, Box 4161 - 348-8880; Ruth Pilon, Rt. 5, Box 5428 - 348-8187, and

Northern Views

By Jon Thompson

Here's an editorial from one of our sister papers, The Three Rivers Commercial News, a daily newspaper in Three Rivers, Michigan.

Driving: A privilege that is treated like a right

As Michigan nears the age of the 65 mile per hour speed limit, questions about the higher limit's effects on safety remain unanswered.

Some argue that a faster speed limit will inevitably lead to more accidents and fatalities on the highway. Others contend that it will make little difference since most people drive at their own chosen speed regardless of what the legal limit is.

The record of states that have already implemented the new limit does little to clear up such questions. Some have shown a decrease in fatalities, others an increase.

But a speed limit is just a minor factor in highway safety. The main cause of almost any accident can be traced to a mistake by the driver.

Why is so little done to prepare and test our drivers for the life and death task of handling an automobile?

Getting a drivers license in the United States is treated like a right, not a privilege. A virtually foolproof system of easy driver's training classes, written exams and once around the block driving tests simply do not prepare people for the awesome task of everyday driving.

What happens when the untested (and quite possibly incompetent) driver gets into a jam that requires a quick decision and perhaps a bold move?

A much more strenuous and difficult road test should be required before anybody gets a drivers license. The risk is too high to let people "learn while they burn" on our roads.

Such a system would probably leave a lot of people without drivers licenses, and without any transportation. But it might also inspire them to improve their driving skills and reapply for a license.

As it stands now virtually anybody can get a license, and that's fine if we want driving to be considered a right and not a privilege.

But such a policy makes attacks on comparatively minor safety issues (such as speed limits) seem a little ridiculous.

If making it tougher to obtain a driver's license would make our roads safer, I'm all for it. There have been some terrible traffic accidents caused by second-rate drivers.

A Reader's Digest article said 50,000 people are killed and nearly two million are injured every year in auto accidents. The National Safety Council believes driver error is the main cause of accidents.

Instead of shooting at problem drivers, as had happened in California, let's not allow them on the road to start with.

Any Number Can Play

ONE GOOD THING about our presidential election system in this country is that anybody can run. That seems especially true of the 1988 race.

It's like the old adage about every boy born in this country, with the same privilege now extended to every girl, too: Anybody can grow up to be president of the United States.

And it's also like the cynic has usually added: That's just one of the chances you have to take.

About the only qualification required by law and constitution to become president is age (the president must be at least 35 years old), and birth site (the president must be a native-born American, whatever that means). The most prominent personality excluded these days is Henry Kissinger, the perpetual and peripatetic international statesman, who probably would run for the job if he could, but he can't because he was born in the wrong place.

MY PHILOSOPHY is the more the merrier. If the voter is provided with a wide enough variety of candidates, then the choice is more apt to be a sound one.

I was sorry to see Rep. Pat Schroeder opt out of the Democratic race — or, more correctly, decline to enter it. The same goes for Gov. Mario Cuomo and even Sen. Joseph Biden.

It's probably another column sometime, but the sins that prompted Mr. Biden to leave the presidential lists, in my view, didn't add up to the result. How about Sen. Gary Hart, you ask? Well let's leave that for another time, too.

BUT ANYWAY, the full list of potential presidents, the better off the voter.

Of course, the system requires that the list narrow as time goes on. There is no limit on when a candidate may enter, except the limit imposed by the practicalities of the system.

Would the Hon. Jeane Kirkpatrick have been too late, for example, if she had decided in late October to run for the Republican nomination? Most of the "usually reliable sources" in high places seemed to think that's the case. We'll never know. Personally, I wish she would have become a formal candidate, too. The more, the merrier.

PROLIFERATION DOES present its problems, of course. Right now, rank and file Democrats are having a heck of a time choosing up sides. The half a dozen or so announced candidates are alarmingly similar in background and views, with some notable exceptions.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson stands apart from the rest, of course, but his positions seem to be getting closer and closer to the candidate consensus, if such were to be drawn.

The similarities are not to be unexpected, either. By and large, the candidates all come out of the same mold. They have won their spurs and built their bases through state politics, and/or in the federal governmental process. And they are all Democrats, after all.

Again, the Rev. Mr. Jackson presents a different personal and professional background, but he's a Democrat, too.

The quandary facing the Democrats is one of selection.

TO A LESSER DEGREE, perhaps, Republicans face similar perplexity.

By and large, all the Republican hopefuls have been part of the governmental process at one level or another for quite a spell. The exception is another preacher, the Rev. Pat Robertson.

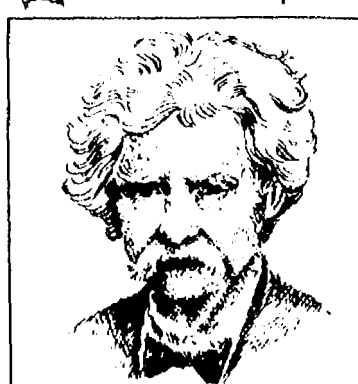

However, Republican views seem to be a bit further apart than among the Democrats. Sometimes you've got to wonder if all the candidates are really members of the same Republican Party. There is no such question about the Democratic candidates.

PRESIDENTIAL POLITICS is always fascinating, and this election cycle ranks near the top in my memory.

For example, I can't recall an election campaign where the nominations in both parties were so wide open one year before the election as they are this time.

And here's one voter who kind of likes it this way for a change.

GPA Festival of Lights Makes Grayling Special Place

Letter to the Editor:

Once again the Grayling Promotional Association is sponsoring an effort to make our town the destination for all those who desire the magical feeling of Christmas in the Northland. Our goal is to have every home, building and business decorated with the "little white lights" that have made Grayling so festive in the past years.

GPA is planning to turn on the lights on Friday evening, November 27th. At exactly 6 p.m. the lights will go on at the County Building and in every cooperating business and professional building. At that same time Santa will arrive at the County Building to listen to the wishes and dreams of the children of Grayling and surrounding communities. There will be carols to sing, the band playing, gifts for the children, and the Holiday Season will begin.

We are hoping that every business and professional office in Grayling - including the Mall area on the I-75 Business Loop, the businesses on M-72 East and West, and those on Old 27 North - will join GPA in making our Festival of Lights bigger and better than last year. In addition, we are hoping that individual homeowners will join us and make their neighborhoods just as lovely to look at. The little white lights are a reasonable investment and are available at many local stores. We suggest that business places put their lights up high to eliminate vandalism. Inside the display windows at a lower level can complete the picture. Homeowners can decorate porches, trees, and inside windows. You can even put your lights up early to avoid the cold.

From November 27th until Christmas Eve GPA will have two Santa's Mailboxes available to receive "Letters to Santa." Letters will be collected by GPA members and the names of families that appear to be in need will be forwarded to the appropriate organizations for help.

GPA is working to make Grayling the most beautiful, talked about, shopped in place in the north. Won't you join us? By decorating your home, and your building, you - your family - and your employees can be a part of the GPA Festival of Lights.

Grayling is a special place - let's make it look special!!

Sincerely,
Grayling Promotional Association

When have you been a member of our community that you would know what is in our best interest? And what right do you have to make decisions from Cadillac that impact our family and friends in this small community?

I'm speaking out for those who won't or can't for fear of the loss of their livelihoods. I have a right to speak out, as I am a taxpayer member of the community whose family roots go back to the logging days. My great grandmother (Johanna Gorman) was in nursing for over forty years and received much recognition. My aunt was trained as a nurse and my mother has worked at Mercy on and off since 1950. My brother works in a hospital and my wife worked at Mercy for a period of time, let alone countless friends and acquaintances. So I know all too well what's been taking place at Mercy over the years and I'm not at all happy with the present policies.

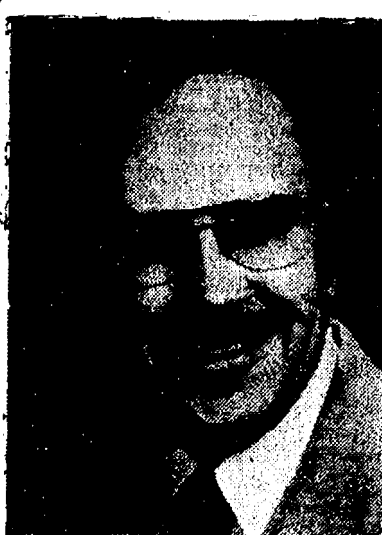

It wasn't that long ago that the people in this county (not a rich county at that) dug deep to give what they had in the form of money and volunteered time to expand the non profit Sisters of Mercy Hospital. I guess I'm somewhat confused as to the designation, as I have heard the goal is to be in the black. What would mother MacCauley think of the sisters of Mercy being run like a business for profit?

How merciful is a corporation under the guise of a "not for profit organization" who is striving to eliminate jobs by out sourcing them to Cadillac, reduction in hours and elimination of full time workers to be replaced by part time employees who don't receive benefits? And under these circumstances how can a person support a family and pay bills? Let alone send children to college! These people are dedicated to the profession of helping people and yet the profession and Mercy Hospital specifically has turned their back on them; and when these people have voiced their concerns some of them have been told that "perhaps they should seek other alternatives." Some already have, and I hope not many more do as this surely won't increase the quality of service to the sick and injured. But then there is already have, and I hope not many more do as this surely won't increase the quality of service to the sick and injured. But then there is al-

Recommended Improvements in Wetlands Program Include New Fee

By Warren M. Hoyt
Michigan Press Association

A committee that studied problems in the administration of the eight-year-old Wetlands Protection Act has recommended minor clarification in the definition of areas covered by the law and new fees on permits to help pay for improvements in the system, including ways to speed the review process.

The committee, appointed by Natural Resources Director Gordon Guyer, suggested the definition and other improvements such as uses permitted in wetlands areas could be accomplished under administrative rules, which have never been promulgated.

The committee, chaired by Guyer's assistant, Greg Lyman, said its recommendations "will do much to reduce occasions for conflict and ensure that the wetlands protection program is administered fairly and efficiently."

"It's obvious to me that a great deal of work needs to be done to overhaul this system to make it more responsive," Guyer said. He said failure to effectively administer the law would mean the federal government would assume regulation of such areas under its Clean Water Act.

Guyer said some additional costs would be incurred, but added about $600,000 would be required to complete a statewide inventory of wetlands and another $350,000 a year to beef up the program.

He said he strongly supports the inventory, which, while not solving all the problems, would serve as a valuable tool to understand what areas are subject to special consideration.

The inventory information could be included in land sales agreements so prospective builders would know in advance if special wetlands restrictions apply.

Officials said 14 counties have not yet started their inventories while 48 others which have completed that process have not yet had the data entered into computers.

Complete computerized data is available from the other 21 counties.

The committee suggested a sliding scale of permit fees for larger developments to pay for additional staff to speed up permit applications and on-site determination requests. And, it said two administrative law judges should be appointed to eliminate unacceptably long waiting periods for appeal.

Guyer, who said wetlands protection need not be inconsistent with economic development, said he completely agrees the process takes too long and would like to get it down to a 30-day response time. The committee recommended a 60-day period, compared to delays as long as six months to get responses currently on permit applications.

Improved consistency in interpreting the law would be provided under a DNR training program and an internal audit system to evaluate decisions. And, the committee recommended a sort of ombudsman in the DNR to conciliate differences between permit applicants and the Land and Water Management Division.

About 20 percent of current permits are granted after negotiation or modification of plans, with 75 percent approved as proposed. Five percent are denied.

Sen. Mitch Irwin (D-Sault Ste Marie), who has been critical of the program, said the recommendations are a positive step and Guyer's admission that "it is a mess" is absolutely on the mark.

He said the recommendations, if properly implemented, should help clarify what is a wetland and what uses are permitted, shorten the timetable by permit applicants to receive responses from the DNR, and improve the consistency of decisions by the department.

Irwin said two other areas that need attention is a way to notify property owners and buyers of property that wetlands are involved and to encourage protection through tax breaks or assessment practices.

Motels Refuse Chamber Membership

By Don Geiss

It does not seem possible that motels who serve to gain most from having a chamber of commerce have elected not to join in a common effort to attract visitors.

Every activity that the chamber undertakes to attract tourists will help to fill those motel rooms. Telephone calls at the chamber office inquiring about lodging help to fill those rooms. But representatives of the motel owners say they will not join because the chamber does not help them sufficiently.

As we understand it, one of their gripes is that the chamber does not advertise downtown. How can they if there are not enough members to provide a budget to do those things? Looking at it another way, chamber members work hard to come up with events like the Winter Carnival and Milltown Festival that bring people to town.

Press releases about those events go downstate as do radio and T.V. spots. That certainly is advertising downtown and its effect may well be more longlasting than a spot ad covering a blanket invitation to visit the area.

Despite the fact that the motels refuse to join the chamber, they will unfortunately continue to benefit from any promotion and will get off scott free from paying their share of the office expenses. Of course in response to telephone calls the chamber could refuse to list any non-participating motels to prospects. Unfortunately that would not be to the best interest of the area either for as we understand it, only the Holiday Inn, Chief Shoppemagon's and the Cedar Motel are members. Telephone callers would be suspicious if only those three were identified as local motels.

On the other hand, the person who answers at the chamber could well tell the caller that the other motels are not members. That would certainly not be good publicity for the community to potential visitors either.

We have said before in this column, couched in more modest terms, that motels receive all sorts of services just by having a chamber of commerce office open. We served the chamber for some time and when a person spends all day in that office it provides a good idea of just who benefits.

Those calls come in by the dozens about lodging and furthermore, allied calls like those that request places to go and things to see also benefit all members.

Now the motels other than the three mentioned will get a free ride. Unfortunately the chamber will be able to do even less in additional promotions since they will have fewer dollars as a result.

Too bad. Just too bad. Can it be that the old adage "In unity there is strength" might be wrong?

Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips of Roseville are the parents of a baby girl, born October 21, 1964. She is named Janice Marie, and weighed 7 lbs. 14 ozs. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Malloy of Grayling, and Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips of Mt. Clemens and Lake Margrethe. Mrs. Malloy spent several days with her daughter and family, returning home Wednesday of last week.

Arnold Stancil left Detroit for duty with the Coast Guard at Cape May, New Jersey, on Monday, October 26th. His father Tom Stancil drove him down and spent the day on business.

Miss Amy Welsh, daughter of the Robert Welshes, celebrated her 9th birthday anniversary, October 25th, on the day before, by inviting six friends to her home. The afternoon was spent in a crayon hunt. Prizes were won by Wendy Feldhauser and Lynn Akers. Birthday cake, ice cream and pink milk were enjoyed by all. Amy received many nice gifts. Amy's sister, Janey, celebrated her 12th birthday October 2nd, having an overnight guest.

Derek McEvers was a dinner guest of the Bob Lutens in Garden City last Wednesday while in the area on business.

Gregory James is the son born October 30 to the Fred Reichelderfers, weighing 6 lbs. 15 ozs. The Bob LaMottes and Serge Reichelderfers are grandparents.

Miss Mary Kay Duley celebrated her 14th birthday anniversary on October 16th, bringing home four school friends from St. Mary's in Gaylord to spend the night. They were Carla Meir, Margie Tomaski, Carol Tomaski and Michelle Sarata. The girls had birthday dinner, attended the homecoming game here and the dance afterwards. They were joined for the celebration by Jeanne Sheehy and Mary Lee Marshall.

Mrs. Morden Post and daughter Debbie and Mrs. George Lodge spent Tuesday in Traverse City on business and shopping.

United Way Auction Offers Dinners, Bachelors, Crafts, And Much More

One of the exciting items to be pledged to the United Way auction this year is a very special dinner. Three Sisters of Mercy from the hospital in Grayling have agreed to cook and serve dinner for eight at their residence on Lake Margrethe. The evening will begin with cocktails served around the fireplace. Then the lucky group will have their choice (agreed on ahead of time) of turkey with all the trimmings or surf and turf. There is already a great deal of good natured bargaining going on among the volunteers, so I'm sure this item will bring in some much needed support for United Way.

Other new items are a 6-foot patio door or $750.00 toward new windows from Mayday Manufacturing, and large trays of chicken or fresh steamed shrimp to buy and eat during the evening or take home for the holidays. Speaking of the holidays, Grayling Promotional Association is giving six large trays of home baked cookies for auction.

We have canoe trips, tanning sessions and snow train trips. A thought concerning the bachelors - give one as a gift! Perhaps you know some gal who deserves a date with one of Grayling's finest. What a special gift that would make! Of course, single girls are urged to come out and make their own selection of the bachelor they would most like to be with for an evening.

Other items of interest are one month memberships in Aikido, Karate, and Rainbow Fitness, special occasion flower arrangements, and boxes of fancy candies made right here in Grayling.

Just take a long look at the items listed in the United Way ad in this paper and we're sure you'll find a good reason to attend the auction. Remember, everything you give is considered a donation to United Way, and as such is tax deductible. Come out for an evening of fun, bring your friends, and help eleven different agencies in Crawford County, including for the first time Crawford County Chapter of American Red Cross.

Onaway Ruins Final Viking Home Game

Onaway spoiled the final game of the year for Grayling beating the Vikings 15-8 at the GHS field.

Onaway scored early in the first quarter on a touchdown and led 6-0 into the second quarter. Then Rusty Argue broke off a 58-yard run and tied the game. Jeff Wolcott scored on a run for the two points giving Grayling an 8-6 lead.

The Vikings held the lead into the third quarter when Onaway connected on a 26-yard field goal. In the fourth quarter Onaway added a touchdown for the final 15-8 score.

Viking head coach Don Stowers said the Vikings improved in offense, again rushing for more than 200 yards, and the kick-off coverage for Grayling improved.

Argue rushed for 124 yards on 14 carries and Wolcott gained 77 yards on 14 carries. Three turnovers, a fumble and two interceptions, hurt the Grayling offense.

On defense, Stowers said defensive tackle Kevin Kamph and linebacker Ward Jones played good games as did defensive ends Steve Lehti and Tom Shively. Kevin Bickford recovered a fumble on defense and Lehti also had a quarterback sack.

The Vikings were hurt the most by Onaway's passing, especially on third and long situations when Onaway picked up first downs.

The Vikings finished 3-6 overall and 3-5 in the league ahead of Gaylord, Rogers City, Boyne City, and Onaway. Charlevoix won the Class C title in the league and Cheboygan, 8-0, won the overall title.

The junior varsity also finished the year with a 3-6 mark with a 36-22 win over Onaway. Micky McKinney scored two touchdowns, Dana Mirate, Shane Fraser, Kurt Schmidt, and Chris Bindschattel each scored one.

Frank Hartwick and Kevin Austin led the defense and everyone on the team played.

Viking Team Effort Topples #1 Gaylord

A team effort by Grayling toppled Gaylord from the unbeaten ranks in league play on Oct. 27. The Vikings gave the 9-0 Gaylord team their first league loss 49-41.

"It was a total team victory," said Viking coach Howard Lehti. "It was probably the biggest game of the year for us."

Grayling dominated the rebounding on both ends and played tough defense without getting in foul trouble. Gaylord pressed the entire ballgame but Lehti said Jenny Money, Carrie Trudgeon, and Melanie Ojala handled it well.

Patty Tremblay, starting her first game, led the team with 14 points and 11 rebounds. Trudgeon had 13 points and 3 assists. Ojala had 9 points and 10 steals. Lori Gust added 9 points and 11 rebounds. Money had 2 points and 3 assists and Deanna Phelps had 2 points and 6 rebounds.

After Grayling beat Gaylord, Cheboygan also beat them to take over first place. The league race has Cheboygan 10-1, Gaylord 9-2, and Grayling 8-3.

Gaylord led 14-11 and 28-27 after the first two quarters. Grayling outscored Gaylord 14-7 in the third quarter.

Grayling went to Roscommon Thursday, Oct. 29, and improved their overall record to 12-3 with a 61-53 win.

Lehti said the game was fast moving and featured good shooting from both teams. The Vikings led 18-10 after one quarter and 28-26 at half. Roscommon only trailed by 43-38 after three quarters. Ojala and Money each scored 14 points. Trudgeon had 11 points and 14 assists. Phelps scored 10 points and led the team with 9 rebounds. Gust added 6 points and 5 rebounds. Tremblay scored 4, A.J. Pratt 2, and Linda Goodale added 4 rebounds.

The Vikings shot 15-28 from the line, the best so far this season for them. Phelps led with 6 of 8. Roscommon's sophomore Terri Tieppo scored 25 and senior Amy Bailey scored 18.

The Vikings traveled to St. Ignace Tuesday and played Rogers City here Thursday, Nov. 5.

The J.V. team lost in overtime to Roscommon 44-43 after staging a great 4th quarter comeback. Grayling was down by 20 points but used two three-pointers each by Claudine Allen and Anne Petrosky to help tie the game. Allen finished with 14 points, Petrosky had 11, Peggy Kraus 7, Heather Stephenson 7, and Nicole Trenary scored 4 points and grabbed 12 rebounds.

Earlier in the week the Vikings lost to Gaylord 54-30. Allen led with 9 points, Kraus had 8, Stephenson 5, Lisa Barber 2, Janet Bickford 2, Margarita Perez 2, and Petrosky 2. The J.V. team is 7-8 overall.

SPORTS FANS!

Brought To You By Bill Hart Sales Representative

One of the most unbelievable oddities in sports history happened in the tragic death of the great football coach, Knute Rockne of Notre Dame...Rockne was flying across the country to Los Angeles and died in a plane crash on March 31, 1931...and, of all the places in the United States, where did that plane happen to crash?...It crashed near the farm of Jesse Harper in Kansas...Harper had been the football coach at Notre Dame when Rockne was a player there!

Chilton, Wis., High School had such a great football team in 1969 that 5 of the teams they played never crossed the 50-yard line...Chilton outscored all their opponents that year 363-0.

Oddly enough, of the 4 teams that finished first in big league baseball's 4 divisions in 1986, NOT ONE of them finished first in 1987...The '86 division winners were the Mets, Astros, Red Sox and Angels...The '87 division winners were the Cardinals, Giants, Tigers and Twins.

I bet you didn't know...that Bill Hart is again available to help with your automotive wants and needs. Bill is a 10 yr. veteran of car sales in Grayling and knows the way to get you the most car for your money. He is available by appointment, or just stop by to say "Hi." Give him a call today for the best buy on a new or used GM or Chrysler. You won't regret it!!

Kmart®. The best place to hunt for a hunting boot.

This is the season when many breeds of hunting boots can be found at Kmart. Quality breeds like Texas Steer® and Sorel®. Some styles have genuine leather uppers, are fully insulated, have rugged soles, cushioned insoles and extra stitching at the stress points.

Our rubber boots are also insulated for warmth and comfort. They have durable soles which insure steady footing in bad weather. Felt liners keep perspiration away and provide extra cushioning.

All of our boots are made to last. But the prices are so low, that our supply won't. So if you want to catch some great values this year, get up early, get in your car and aim for Kmart.

Cub Scout Pack 3993 Begins 3rd Year Here

In September, Cub Scout Pack 3993 began its third year of serving youth in the Grayling area. With an improved program and leadership, the Pack is looking forward to a great year. Since last year, there have been a few additions to the Pack and its program, all of which have already shown positive results.

The first of these additions is the Pack's monthly newsletter, which is mailed to all registered members of Pack 3993. The newsletter was established in an effort to open the lines of communication between the Pack's leadership, its members, and the parents. The newsletter mailing list is taken from the Packs 1986-87 Charter and the new Cub Scout applications. If there are any members of the Pack who are not receiving the newsletter, or are receiving the newsletter and shouldn't be, please let us know by sending a postcard to the Pack at P.O. Box 330, Grayling, Michigan 49738.

Another addition to the Pack is the Webelos Den. The Webelos Den, which is open to any boy who is in the fifth grade and/or 10 years old, meets on Wednesday nights at 7:00 p.m. at the Troop 979 Scout Hall located at the rear of Goodale's Bakery on Ottawa Street.

In addition to the Webelos den, the Pack has three Cub Scout dens meeting on a regular basis. Another addition to the Pack's program is the new meeting places provided for the Pack and Dens. The weekly Den meetings are now all held at the Troop 979 Scout Hall as well as the Webelos Den.

If you are in grades 1 through 5, and are interested in joining Pack 3993, please join us at any of these Pack meetings and see Cubmaster Todd Pfaff for a Cub Scout application, or see any Cub Scout Pack 3993 Den Leader for more information.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

The Gospel of John Part 10 Witness of Christ's disciples

After our Lord Jesus Christ was presented as the Word, Lamb and Son of God, implying His offices as prophet, priest and king, we hear the witness of His first disciples. The silent disciple of John 1:35 seems to be the apostle John. He never uses the name John except to identify John the Baptist. He refers to self as "that disciple" or "the disciple Jesus loved." He seems to be with Andrew as the first two disciples. He doesn't mention telling his brother James, but he does mention Andrew telling his brother Simon Peter. "He first findeth his own brother Simon, and saith unto him, We have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted, the Christ." (John 1:41).

The next day, Jesus called Philip to follow Him as a disciple. (John 1:43, 44). Philip then gave witness to his brother Nathanael. "Philip findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him, We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph." (John 1:45). Nathanael at first questioned Philip's testimony until He met Jesus Christ in person. Jesus convinced Nathanael of who He was by displaying His omniscience. He described an incident in Philip's life none else knew about. (John 1:46-48). "Nathanael answered and saith unto him, Rabbi, thou art the Son of God; thou art the King of Israel." (John 1:49).

The combined testimony of these first disciples of our Lord Jesus Christ identified Him as the Messiah, the Christ, the prophesied one of the Old Testament, the Son of God, and the King of Israel. Jesus Christ went on to give a greater revelation to Nathanael in John 1:51: "And he saith unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Hereafter ye shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of God." (John 1:51). Our Lord Jesus Christ identified Himself as the only link between God and man and between heaven and earth. He claimed to be the fulfillment of Jacob's ladder in Genesis 28:12. He is the only access into the presence of God. "Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." (John 14:6). As Peter said, "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4:12).

To reject this doctrine of Christ is to deny God. (2 John 9).

Scripture Reference:

Matthew 25:1-13

The parable of the 10 virgins, although it is one of the most popular, has also been the object of a great number of interpretations. I shall try to confine myself to an explanation and reflection which is in accord with the living tradition of the Church. Does our Lord take as a foundation for His parable an ordinary fact, namely, a wedding ceremony as was frequently witnessed by His hearers? He does, but He gives it a particular arrangement in order to bring out a precise point of His teaching. The details of the parable do not correspond exactly to the way in which weddings were celebrated among those who heard it, but they are arranged in such a way as to highlight the need to be ready for the encounter with God. What is meant by the obligation to be ready and what is at stake?

To be ready means that we have taken the necessary steps to be prepared. Take note that the parable blames the virgins not for having slept, but for not having brought enough oil with them. They have not prepared themselves with care to meet the situation. In terms of the Christian life, we can say that waiting for the Lord cannot be neglected and we cannot have an attitude of "good enough."

God always enters unexpectedly into our lives. He asks that we keep our good-will alive so that we can welcome Him at any time. We run great risks when we give in to sleep that is the result of being unloving or unthoughtful. Practically, this demands that we live each moment of our life with the will of performing our duty the best we can.

To be ready means relying on our own responsibility and not on help from others. The foolish virgins thought that if they had not enough oil they would be able to get some from their companions. It is true that here on earth we must help one another because of the solidarity that unites us. But no other person can give us the faith, hope and charity we have neglected to practice. Just as the prudent virgins were unable to give a portion of their reserve oil, so no one in the Church can share a part of our personal relationship with God.

Pondering the end of our lives or the end of time, which remains unknown to us, we must make sure that we are always ready - to welcome the Lord in the immediate future if He comes soon or in the future if we are asked to wait.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

ELECTION DAY!

Election Day! What a day, and privilege. It is that sacred moment, standing alone in the voting booth, when you as an American exercises a most precious privilege. You are insuring that "government by the people, of the people, and for the people" shall not pass from this land.

The responsibility is as awesome as the privilege is sacred. Because, as someone put it, "Bad people are often elected by good people who don't vote."

The Apostle Paul, Christian to the core, was extremely proud of his Roman citizenship. Said he: "I am a citizen of no mean city." (Acts 21:39) Later he would use his Roman citizenship for protection. (Acts 22:25)

When the Rev. Dr. Dwight L. Moody was chided for his involvement in politics he declared, "I am a citizen of two worlds. My home is heaven, but I vote in Cook County, Illinois!"

And God, speaking through his preacher Jeremiah, reminded the people: "Seek you the welfare of the city where I have sent you... and pray to the Lord on its behalf, for in its welfare you will find your welfare." (Jeremiah 29:7)

Vote this election day, November 3.

Small Party Store in 1961 Grows to Rochette's IGA Grocery

By Don Geiss
As the saying goes,
"Mighty trees from little acorns grow" and this might refer to the beginning of the Rochette venture into the grocery business compared to the present facility.

It was in 1961 that Leon and Laurette Rochette decided to move into the grocery business. They built a small facility next to the Shell Service Station that they had been operating since 1953. They moved up from Garden City that year where they had been in the grocery business since about 1915.

They decided to start the business because they observed a need for a store that could furnish items all day as well as into the evening. A package liquor store was also a needed venture in the city.

By 1973 the small corner store across the street from the present one had become too small for the various products and amount of business that they were doing. The new store was constructed and the old one closed. In the new venture, sons Dennis and Leo were involved.

In 1976, Dennis and Leo bought out their parents and two years later Dennis bought out Leo to become sole owner of the store.

At that point Dennis decided to pursue a new course which would involve a change from strictly a party store to a full line grocery business. He decided to join the IGA franchise because virtually all of the standard grocery items could be obtained through that one store.

The first major change in the appearance of the store was made in 1979 when an addition provided space for a meat counter. At the same time that it opened Mark McNally joined the organization as the meat expert. Since that time his reputation has spread to the entire area and he is called upon to provide some of the finest cuts for parties and special events as well as delicacies for his everyday customers.

About the time when the bottle deposit law became effective, the business expanded again but this time with a special storage structure behind the main store.

The need for more floor space and parking caused another addition to the structure and blacktopping the adjacent lot in 1981. One of the most exciting and dangerous moments in the store's history came about when a car attempted to convert the facility into a drive-in grocery. According to Rochette, a car accidentally drove into the north side door and pushed in the entire wall on that side.

Currently the store employs 24 persons full or part time with a number of them having spent three or more years there.

It has indeed grown from that little acorn across the street to the big oak on the east side. Those who frequent the store may well take it for granted but it might be an idea for those who have not compared the progress to step inside now and see what improvements the years have brought about.

GROW WITH GRAYLING — Rochette's IGA has grown steadily in size since it first began across the street in 1961.

Grayling Man Offers Rialto Memories

The story of the Grand old Rialto in the Oct. 22 Avalanche issue brought back many pleasant memories to me, and I'm sure to many of the older citizens of Grayling and Crawford County. And yes, I'm sure also to people of other communities such as Roscommon, Higgins and Houghton Lake, Kalkaska, Frederic, Gaylord, Lovells, and Lewiston, as to my knowledge the Rialto was the first and only theater in this area showing "moving pictures".

My first visit to the Rialto to the best of my remembering was in 1926 while we were still living on the farm in Maple Forest where I was born in 1920. My parents, Marion and William Hunter, had made the trip to Grayling with wagon and team of horses to bring food supplies off the farm to my two brothers Roy and Amos Hunter who were "batching" here in Grayling while finishing High School as the country schools only went through the 8th grade.

My father decided that we should go see a movie picture that night so mother got me ready but could find no belt to hold my pants up. She soon solved the problem with an old neck-tie and we were off to the Rialto. We sat down fairly close to the front row and I remember I was fascinated watching that lady (Leelah Olson) playing the piano while watching the picture as she had to match the different moods and actions of the actors and actresses. Fast, then slow she played, then cheerful, then sad. She sure could make that piano "talk". She seemed to follow the picture and match every mood.

When I could get my eyes off Mrs. Olson and her piano I watched the silent movie, trying to figure out how they made the picture move. I envisioned a huge wheel or drum which turned with maybe the people acting on it while it turned.

Needless to say, my first visit to the Rialto made a lasting impression on me, a young six year old from the farm. We moved to Grayling in 1927.

The old Rialto, (the one that burned) had three sections of seats, a row down the middle and a row on each side. I think the seats were of wood and not upholstered.

As the Oct. 22, 1987 Avalanche states, the first Rialto burned in April, 1930. On that particular night, we three, Les Hunter, Vilho Wirtanen, and Don Kangas were at the show together. The movie (silent) was a western type. As the "good guys" were chasing the "bad guy" on horses up a hill, the bad guy turned and fired on them. The picture flickered a few times and went out. We sat still thinking the film had broken and they would soon have it repaired. Very soon after I remembered George, (Mr. Olson) walking down the aisle and up onto the stage. He calmly announced to the people that they had a slight problem with the movie projector and would everyone quietly move out of the theater until they had it fixed.

As we turned to file out of the theater we could see that the projection room was glowing red but even then no one seemed to think of fire and there was no panic. I credit Geo Olson for this because of the slow, casual way he announced to the people to please leave the theater. After the people were all softly outside, and only then, did George go back up into the projection room to try to help the projector operator bring the fire under control. Having softly left the building most all theater patrons assembled across Michigan Ave. on the lawn of what was the County Courthouse and jail building. It was very clear to everyone by this time that the Rialto was in very serious trouble as much more fire and heavy smoke could be seen coming from the two projection room windows just above the marquee.

Although I did not actually see them, the story goes that both the projection room operator and George escaped through one of the projector room windows to the roof of the marquee, and with the help of the fire dept., down to the sidewalk level. Both were badly burned about the face and arms, burn scars and a blackened complexion Mr. Olson was to carry for the rest of his days. This never seemed to bother him however, as he always greeted everyone with a cheerful smile and a hardy handshake.

Upon arriving outside the theater my friend, Vilho Wirtanen, discovered that he had left his hat inside. Luckily we did not attempt to go back inside to find the hat.

In the later years of Rialto No. 1 we were in the beginning of the great depression and admission money was very hard to come by although at this time admission was 15 cents for kids and 25 cents for adults. Most kids earned allowances by doing jobs for their parents or other people in the neighborhood.

I earned my weekly allowance by carrying home the daily milk supply of 1 qt. and 1 pt. at that time, home delivered milk was 12 cents per qt. and 6 cents per pt. However if we came after it, the price was 10 cents per qt. and 5 cents per pt. By going after the milk each day I was given the 3 cents we saved, and each Saturday night had saved up 21 cents which at that time treated me to the Saturday night show for 15 cents and a 5 cent box of popcorn. This system worked very well until the early years of Rialto No. 2.

After the great fire and the end of Rialto No. 1 the magnificent Rialto No. 2 arose from the ashes in record time and there was standing room only on Grand Opening night. Curtains were opened in the lobby and people stood through the entire performance. The Olson's spared no expense in making the new Rialto the most beautiful and talked about theater in all the north. We were all so very proud of our new Rialto. Grayling could never be called a hick town again with a new and beautiful theater such as Rialto No. 2.

Along in these early years there were great movies featuring such cowboy stars as Richard Arlin, Tom Mix, Hoot Gibson and Harry Cary. There were double features with comedies such as Laurel and Hardy, Our Gang, Harold Lloyd etc. Cartoons were unknown in those days. Pathe news and Lowell Thomas were other added features.

Somewhere along in these years came the "talkies." How great it was to actually hear our favorite people talk and not have to read the lines below the pictures as they went by. Little things like the tinkle of glasses as toasts were made or the sound of people walking or tap dancing.

About every summer my sister Viola would make her yearly visit from Flint to Grayling bringing along my two little nieces, Marion and Dorothy. It was my duty to escort them to the show while they were here. This I felt was below my dignity as growing boys felt quite important and did not want little girls tagging along, especially in the presence of ones male friends. We boys were supposed to live up to our reputation as being tough as those who lived on the south side of Grayling were known as South Side Savages.

At any rate I still had to take them to the show so I made them walk about a half block behind me and when at the show they sat 10 or 12 rows behind while I joined the gang up front in the first two rows. On the way home however it was dark and I was glad to have them by my side. One night during a show at the Rialto a circus lion got loose from his cage and ran away. I swear that lion was behind every shrub and corner as I walked home that dark night.

In a vacant lot next to Dawson's Drug Store in which the A&P store was located, stood a Rialto theater billboard in which were a dozen or so nice glossy 8 x 10 pictures advertising the next coming attractions. If the towns one and only constable, Morgan Paige was not making his rounds, many of these show pictures ended up decorating the walls of families outdoor privy's. After a few years of this the billboard was fitted with glass doors and locks. That ended this episode.

George Olson was a great man. Each Christmas, together with other generous businessmen and places in Grayling a Christmas party was given for all school children. A huge sleigh drawn by a husky team of horses would pull up in the center of town at the intersection of Michigan and Peninsular streets loaded with candy apples, oranges and nuts. George Burke acted as Santa Claus and each and every boy and girl received a huge stocking filled with these goodies after which they ran the 1/2 block to the Rialto to an afternoon of free comedies and Christmas shows. In later years this was reversed and Santa passed out the goodies as we departed from the show. Seems that too much sticky candy and popcorn balls soaked in heavy syrup were left behind on the nice plush upholstered seats of the Rialto. We sure appreciated the free show that George gave us though and I think he enjoyed it as much or more than we did because he always had a big grin on his face as the kids came charging in.

About during the mid thirties there were other items to draw the crowds to the Rialto. Among these were "dish night." Once each week the patrons received one dish of a set. If a person was to keep this up for several months a complete set of dishes was accumulated. Another fun game was Screeno. This was the same as bingo except that a large arrow spun around a circle of numbers on the screen. Winners would line up on stage where their numbers were checked and cash prizes were awarded the winners. This was a great way to fill the theater and there was usually standing room only most every Screeno night.

George Olson was very popular with the young people. Most all called him George and very few were so formal as to call him Mr. Olson. This he seemed to enjoy.

A few paragraphs back I mentioned that my 21 cents weekly allowance worked quite well during the early thirties. However, about mid-thirties when my friend Vilho Wirtanen and I would put down our 15 cents at the ticket counter we were given an inquisitive look by Leelah (Mrs. Olson). She said, "I think it's about time you boys pay adult price," "that will be 25 cents please." Needless to say, there went our popcorn money. We did notice, however, that when George was at the ticket window he accepted our 15 cents with no questions asked so we bought our popcorn and enjoyed the show. Thereafter we began the habit of walking up the sidewalk on the Courthouse side. If Leelah was selling tickets we kept on walking until George showed up to relieve her. With George in the ticket booth we rushed across and got our 15 cent tickets. This system lasted for nearly a year then George, too, considered us as adults.

These are some of my main recollections of the Rialto. They are fond memories and I'm sure most all Grayling citizens could write articles such as this on their "Remembering the Rialto".

Our most sincere thanks to the Olson family for the Rialto.

BUDDY'S WORKSHOP

Replace Or Reface Cabinets?

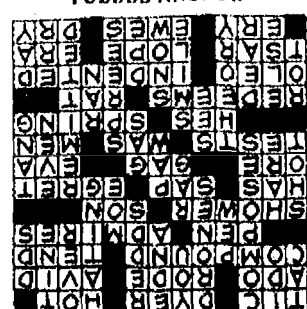

I'm getting ready to remodel our kitchen, and our present cabinets won't match the new decor. Someone mentioned refacing the cabinets rather than installing new ones. Is it easier or less expensive?

Refacing cabinets is both easier and less expensive than replacing them. Some industry figures show a do-it-yourselfer can save as much as 70 percent by refacing his or her cabinets, and it's fairly easy if you take your time. However, before you start, make sure your present cabinets are in sound structural condition.

A newly introduced Solid Oak Kitchen Cabinet Refacing System from Masonite Corporation packages contemporary-styled solid oak cabinet doors, drawer fronts and matching peel-and-stick oak veneer into an easy, step-by-step procedure. The system offers a variety of doors and drawer fronts to accommodate almost any type of cabinets. Doors and drawer fronts are both 3/4-in. thick and available in two styles. The doors come in nine standard sizes and the drawer fronts come in three sizes. Non-standard or customized sizes can be adjusted easily using framing strips.

FREE BROCHURE AVAILABLE: A handy brochure that describes how homeowners can avoid a number of major roof repair problems by using asphalt and aluminum protective coatings has been published by the LubriMatic Division of Witco Corporation. Instructions are provided on how to handle specific repair jobs such as holes and breaks, raised edges and blisters and how to maintain flashings, wall tops and ridges, drains, pipes and vents. Copies of the Fortress roof maintenance brochure may be obtained from the LubriMatic Division, Witco Corporation, P.O. Box 1974, Olathe, KS 66061-1974.

THIS WEEK'S PUZZLE ANSWER

Resource Review

Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

The Michigan Game Law (Act 286 of 1929) provides for the taking out of season of birds and animals which are causing damage. In most instances this can be done only under permit issued by the D.N.R.

At present, the most serious damage control problems we face in Crawford County are caused by beaver. The lifestyle of this animal is such that it cuts trees to provide food and shelter. When this occurs in somebody's front yard, they become concerned at the loss of ornamental trees. The worst problem, however, is the flooding caused by dams constructed by the beaver.

When we receive a complaint that someone is suffering damage, we do an on-site inspection of the situation. If, in the view of the investigator, the problem is serious enough, a permit to kill the beaver and/or remove the dam is issued. A recent change in our policy allows the person doing the trapping to retain the animal and hide.

Often a dam is located on property owned by someone other than the person suffering damage. In that case, the permission of property owner at the dam's location must be obtained if the dam is to be removed. We can not give permission to trespass.

Generally speaking, damage control permits are not issued just prior to the beaver trapping season. A beaver is a valuable fur bearing animal and should be utilized as such. The season is set to coincide with the "prime" fur of the animal. Killing the beaver even a couple of weeks before season means less than best use of this resource.

... about your Social Security

A person cannot be sure of receiving credit for Social Security-covered employment unless his or her name and Social Security number are correctly reported by the employer. If wages are reported without the worker's correct number, he or she may never receive credit for the earnings. Eligibility for and the amount of monthly retirement, disability, and survivors benefits for a worker and his or her family are determined by the worker's lifetime earnings credited to their Social Security record.

Employers should ask to see each new employee's Social Security card and should record the worker's name and number exactly as shown on the card. If the worker has never had a number, or has lost their card, they should be referred to a Social Security office to apply for one. A new card should also be obtained if the employee's name has changed; in this case, the new card will show the new name but the same number.

At the close of the calendar year, employers must submit a Wage and Tax Statement (Form W-2) to the Social Security Administration for each employee. The W-2 forms must be sent with a Transmittal of Income and Tax Statements (Form W-3). Each employee also gets a copy of the W-2 and the form should be checked to make sure the number is correct.

It is recommended that people check their Social Security record at least once every three years. To do this, contact any Social Security office and ask for the form 7004.

A representative from Social Security is at the Courthouse in Grayling the first and third Tuesday of each month from 10:30 until 2:00.

INDIAN PUDDING

Serves 8-10

- 1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
- 5 cups milk (2 cold, 3 warm)
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 cup Barbados molasses
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground nutmeg
- Pinch of salt

Lightly butter the inside of a 2-quart baking dish and set aside. Preheat the oven to 325 degrees.

Put the cornmeal in a pot with 1 cup cold milk and stir well to moisten the cornmeal. Now put in the 3 cups warm milk and cook over low heat, stirring well, for about 5 minutes, until the contents are smooth and thick. Stir the butter and sugar together and add to the pot, then add the molasses, spices and salt. Pour the mixture into the baking dish and then pour the remaining cup of cold milk over the top, but do not stir it.

Bake the pudding in the preheated oven at 325 degrees for 30 minutes, then turn the heat down to 300 degrees and bake for 2 1/2 hours longer.

Serve hot or at room temperature with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.
